

DE SAGAN SCORED BY ATTORNEY

First Day's Sensation in the Suit of Count
Boni Castellane

BIG ARRAY OF SCANDAL

Prince Offered to Enter Monastery
When Princess Learned of His Conduct.

Paris, Nov. 26.—The first day's proceedings in the suit of Count Boni de Castellane against his former wife, who was Miss Anna Gould of New York and who is now the wife of Prince Helle de Sagan, for the custody of his three children, was characterized by a strong denunciation of the prince and princess by M. Bonnet who represented Count de Castellane. The court room was crowded with spectators, among whom were many Americans and English than French. Prince Helle and the count glared at each other for four hours while M. Bonnet pleaded that the custody of the children must be confided to their grandmother, the Marquise de Castellane, because the marriage of Miss Gould to the prince had polluted the atmosphere of their home. He described the marriage as a catastrophe which had resulted in the quasi-abandonment of the children, and without mercy raked de Sagan's past—his early life, his amorous adventures with questionable companions, his ostracism by his family, the month he spent in jail before the case charging him with the forgery of notes to the value of $80,000 was nolle prossed through the intervention of his father, and his amorous escapades even since his marriage.

M. Bonnet gave names, dates and places. He charged that while en route to America Prince de Sagan took his mistress with him from England, and that after he had rejoined Mme. Gould in France he saw his mistress frequently and he even went so far as to meet her while proceeding to England to have the marriage ceremony performed. After his marriage M. Bonnet declared these ill relations continued. When the princess discovered that the prince was deceiving her the latter got down on his knees and offered to make application to an archbishop for admission to a monastery.

The princess' reputation, after she fell under the influence of de Sagan, was likewise assailed in scathing terms by Count Boni's counsel. He described her conduct with Prince de Sagan on both sides of the Atlantic, and spoke of the world-wide scandal which it had caused. M. Bonnet offered to bring proof of many of the incidents to which he referred.

In all there are 39 different counts in the indictment and such an array of scandal has seldom been witnessed even in a French court. The spectators laughed uproariously at the statement that Prince Helle was anxious to seek a monastery and their laughter was even augmented at times as M. Bonnet dramatically enacted some of the scenes.

George Gould as trustee to his sister's estate, is party to the suit, in which it is sought, in addition to securing the custody of the children, to obtain a large annual allowance for their maintenance. M. Bonnet asked for as much as $60,000 a year for this purpose, but said that he was willing that the court should fix the amount.

Next week de Sagan's attorney, M. Clemenceau, is expected to retaliate by laying bare Count Boni's record.

COL. WM. VEACH

ONE OF LICKING COUNTY'S STANCH PIONEERS PASSES AWAY.

Dissolution Caused by Ailments Incident to Age—Funeral Will Probably Be Held Saturday.

Col. William Veach, the second oldest man in Licking county, died at his home on South Second street hill, Thursday morning at 1:15 o'clock, after an illness of some time with the ailments peculiar to advanced age, he being in his 93d year. For the past several years he has been gradually growing weaker and weaker, but only within the last two or three days was this fading away observable.

Col. William Veach was born in Shenandoah county, Va., September 30, 1816, and in 1824 the family moved to Licking county, and settled in Newark township. In his youth Col. Veach was a school teacher. In the spring of 1843 he was elected constable of Newton township, and on May 1, in the same year, was appointed deputy sheriff under Sheriff Caleb Boring. In 1844 he was elected sheriff and was re-elected when his term expired. He was appointed deputy United States marshal in 1846. In 1846 Mr. Veach was married to Eliza Hollister of Greenup, Ky., and of this union four sons were born, two of whom are living—Wm. A. Veach of this city, and Frank Veach of California. The deceased was president of the Licking County Agricultural Society for a number of years, and filled many other positions of trust and responsibility.

In politics, Mr. Veach was always a Democrat, and has represented his party in judicial, senatorial, congressional, state and national conventions, and for a number of years was chairman of the Democratic central committee of Licking county.

Mr. Veach in the early days was a driver on the Ohio canal, the same time former President James A. Garfield was.

The funeral will probably be held Saturday, but the family is awaiting word from Mr. Frank Veach, who is in California.

TWO MEN INTERESTED IN THE CONTEST FOR THE SPEAKERSHIP.

Washington, Nov. 26.—Uncle Joe Cannon, who has been speaker of the house of representatives so long that he may be said to have acquired the habit, is now engaged in the preliminary skirmishing of what is likely to be the political battle of his life. The picture reveals him in his most recent oratorical attitude. Among those who are exerting themselves to secure his re-election is the vice president-elect, James Schoolcraft Sherman, whose genial countenance is close proximity to that of his charming little granddaughter is seen herewith.

Thanksgiving Once Again

ing word from Mr. Frank Veach, who is in California.

REVOLUTIONARY MOVEMENT SPREADING.

Kingston, Jamaica, Nov. 26.—Advices from Hayti state that the revolutionary movement is spreading and that all foreigners have left the southern portion, where fighting is in progress. While up to present there has been no disorder in Port au Prince it is generally admitted that unless governmental forces gain substantial advantage in the very near future there may be trouble there.

KILLING ALL THE DISEASED CATTLE

Detroit, Nov. 26.—Secretary Wilson of the department of agriculture, will ask congress for a half million dollars to combat the foot and mouth disease in Michigan. Cattle valued at $31,000 are being killed today in Wayne county and buried in deep trenches with carloads of quicklime. All horses, dogs, fowl, etc. on the farms on which diseased cattle were found will also be killed. Ontario has barred all Michigan cattle, hogs, sheep and horses from entrance into the province.

BRUSH POTTERY AT ZANESVILLE BURNS TO GROUND; BIG LOSS

Zanesville, Nov. 26.—The Brush Pottery company, one of Zanesville's leading industries, a $60,000 concern, was completely destroyed by fire this morning. The blaze started at an early hour after midnight and was of unknown origin. The concern employs a large number of men.

WE SHOULD BE THANKFUL

Today, Thursday, November 26th, is the day appointed by proclamation of the President of the United States for general thanksgiving for the blessings and mercies that we as a nation and as individuals have fallen heir to.

A noted divine in the city of Philadelphia recently stated from the pulpit that instead of one day for giving thanks, the American people, and for that, the peoples of the earth, should make every day their thanksgiving day. A Philadelphia editorial writer in commenting upon the sermon said that indigestion and scarcity of turkeys would go hand in hand if Thanksgiving day came 365 times a year.

The greatest sufferer living has something to be thankful for and it is often argued that if human beings would spend more time in being thankful for what they have than in worrying about what they haven't there would be more happy faces and fewer premature gray hairs.

Every school child knows the story of the first Thanksgiving day and is familiar with the beautiful story of how the pious Puritan fathers and mothers landed at Plymouth, Mass., and immediately banded their knees and offered up a prayer of gratitude for their safe journey and the blessings of the past. That offering of thanks established a monument to the piety and deep religious feeling of our forefathers.

Today is practically the 288th anniversary of that first thanks offering of the people of the United States, and in every household will the spirit of the day prevail.

In many homes, afflicted by recent grief or disappointment, the purpose of the day may temporarily be lost to view, but later, sometime when those homes are best able to feel the blessings that so often come in disguise, thanks will be given that health, strength, happiness and hope are numbered among the blessings of mankind.

LAMPHERE

Does Not Yet Know Fate as Jury is Still Deliberating After Being Out Since Last Night.

Laporte, Ind., Nov. 26.—The jury in the case of Ray Lamphere, charged with the murder of Mrs. Belle Gurness and children today resumed consideration of the case. Four ballots were taken last night and the jury deliberated six hours without a sign of agreement.

"JACKIES"

On Board the Great Battleship Fleet are Having Enjoyable Thanksgiving Day.

Manila, Nov. 26.—This is a joyous Thanksgiving day for the men on the great battleship fleet. While but a small proportion of the total force is able to be on shore, there are real doings on board, where elaborate meals are being served to be followed by the usual sports and holiday making. Eighty special conduct sailors were landed from each of the battleships and enjoyed the day on shore.

A great many Newark people went to Columbus today to attend the Kenyon-O. S. U. football game, which occurs this afternoon.

SEARCHING FOR BODIES

Fifty-Six Still Missing—Death List Includes 18 of Crew, One European and 64 Moors.

Valetta Isle, of Malta, Nov. 26.—Rescue parties made up of marines and sailors from warships in the harbor are endeavoring to board the still smoking wreck of the liner Sardinia in the search for bodies, in order to definitely determine the number of deaths. This work is both difficult and dangerous, as there is still much fire in the hold. There are still 56 missing, all of whom it is believed are dead in the wreckage. The death list, not counting the missing, include 18 of the crew, one European passenger and sixty-four Moors.

WHAT IS IT?

Something we'll all have today.

Answer to Wednesday's puzzle—Badger.

SENATORIAL DEAL DENIED BY GOVERNOR

Announces Himself as a Candidate for the Senatorship

HAS STRONG FOLLOWING

State Patronage Gives Him a Commanding Position—Will Divide Votes.

Columbus, O., Nov. 26.—With the foreword that he realized that his conferences with United States Senators Foraker and Dick at different times may be misconstrued, and some may take it that he has consented to a deal with the two statesmen, Governor Andrew L. Harris last evening issued a statement as to his position. He says:

"Appreciating as I do the requests of friends and members of the Legislature, I have yielded to the extent of becoming a receptive candidate, but I have no coalition with any other candidate for United States senator, and I am in no sense opposed to any of them. I had nothing to do in bringing about any of the conferences here in this city this week and nothing was done at any of them so far as I am concerned."

The governor's statement can hardly be taken as an entirely new announcement of his candidacy, for in an interview a couple of days after the election he stated that while he would not turn down such an honor he would not make a tussle for it.

Governor Harris just now occupies a strong strategic position. It is in his power to name the various appointive heads of departments, who, in turn, employ hundreds of subordinates at good salaries. He is the breath of their nostrils. It is his intention to summon the General Assembly into special session January 4. The federal law requires that the first joint ballot for the senatorship shall be cast on Wednesday, the 12th. The senatorial caucus will, therefore, be held before Governor Harris goes out of office, the date for that event being the 11th of January.

There is no sentiment in politics. The men who expect to hold their places under Governor Harman through the action of General Harris in sending their names to the Senate as soon as the General Assembly convenes will naturally do all in their power to return the favor. This will take away votes that are now being counted on for both Taft and Burton.

Despite the declaration of the governor of repudiation of the plans of the allied senators his pronouncement of yesterday plays into their hands. It is their open purpose to so divide the hostile vote that Burton and Taft may be pitted one against the other, and a division created that will drive either or both of them out of the field. If Burton remains many of the leaders of the state machine will throw their strength to Foraker. They positively will not accept Burton. What the senatorial allies want above everything else is the holding off of the senatorial caucus.

WOLF FRIGHT AT LANCASTER.

Lancaster, O., Nov. 26.—A wolf belonging to a show escaped from its cage yesterday afternoon, when the street was crowded with people. The keeper lassoed the wolf and in so doing was badly lacerated.

TOUCHED A CORPSE.

Zanesville, O., Nov. 26.—On request of officers of Corning, Frank Ruff was arrested here on a charge of stealing $54 from a corpse. Ruff confessed, and was taken to Corning. John Dougherty was killed in Corning by a train Tuesday night, and the money was taken from his pocket.

REFUSED

To Eat Partridge and Friend Was Probably Fatally Shot by Westerner.

Cleveland, O., Nov. 26.—Charles Freund, a downtown saloonkeeper, is dying today at a hospital, because he refused to eat a partridge thrown on his bar by Joe Cole, who claims to be a North Dakota ranchman. Cole entered the saloon when it was crowded. When Freund refused to obey his whim, Cole began firing. Freund dropped with a bullet in his head. Cole was captured later.

WHY THE KANSAS THANKS

Governor Hoch Gives Reasons For November 26.

Banks Overflow With Money, a Third of Counties Have No Prisoners in Their Jails, and Crops and Prices Are Big.

Topeka, Kansas—Governor Hoch in issuing his Thanksgiving Proclamation on November 7, said:

"Count your blessings, count your blessings, 'Name them one by one; 'Count your blessings, count your blessings, 'See what God hath done."

Blessed with peace and plenty, the people of Kansas have peculiar reason to obey this injunction of a devout poet, and an inventory of our blessings should fill our hearts with gratitude. Bountiful crops and unprecedented prices have rewarded our husbandmen, while remunerative employment has made busy the hands and happy the hearts of our wage-workers.

Our banks are overflowing with money, averaging more than $100 per capita. Only five out of nearly 800 of these institutions closed their doors in the recent financial panic, and several of these have already paid their depositors in full. Material prosperity everywhere abounds within our borders.

But these things material are by no means our only or our chief sources of felicity; for there are higher values than these dominant in Kansas. No state is blessed with more ideal governmental conditions and in none is the majesty of the law more manifest. The beneficent effect of our wise public policies is attested by the logic of result.

One-third of our counties are without prisoners in their jails or paupers in their poor-houses; one-half of our counties contributed no convicts to our prison population last year and one-half of our prison inmates never lived in Kansas long enough to gain a residence here. Our educational institutions were never so flourishing. Our churches were never so strong, nor the spiritual outlook more hopeful. The saloon has been practically banished from our state and its baneful influence almost entirely eliminated. All of these things should touch the chords of our better nature and make them vibrate with the reverent sentiments, "Praise God from Whom All Blessings Flow."

Surely a people so favored by Providence and so envied by government have cause to observe with grateful hearts the autumnal day which, according to time honored custom, is annually set aside by executive proclamation as a day of Thanksgiving to Almighty God for His manifold blessings and of devout prayer for the continuance of his favor.

High Taxes Caused By Saloons

THIS IS PROVEN BY THE LEVIES

The county levy for 1904 was...	1.60
The county levy for 1905 was...	1.55
The county levy for 1906 was...	1.70
The county levy for 1907 was...	2.20
The county levy for 1908 was...	2.355

Now, some one may ask, how comes it that the taxes went up, although the saloons were taxed $1,000.00 each in 1907.

The answer is plain. The saloon does not and never will pay any one's taxes. But on the other hand, puts a burden of pauperism, insanity and criminality on the community. For instance, the cost of the three saloon murder trials now before the people of Licking county will alone eat up all that the saloons pay to the county, and more.

Just look at the levies of 1904 and 1906, and you will see that on the basis of the assessed valuation of the county, there is an increased taxation of $21,140 since 1904.

But don't the saloon keepers pay our taxes?

NC, no saloon keeper ever paid fifteen cents of anybody's taxes. And if he did, where would he get the money with which to do it? From the people of the county; and worse still, from the little children who would be forced to go naked and hungry as a consequence.

See our Children's Home. We have 52 inmates, seventy per cent. of whom are there because of the saloons. And each child costs $156.81 a year. Or in other words,

OVER THE BAR.

O! what has become of the home you once had When your wife looked happy, your children well clad? Say, where did it go, your comfort to mar? It went over the bar, Sir, over the bar.

But why such distress and poverty now, Such sorrow of heart and palor of brow, And where is your honor and manhood, I pray? They are lost in that "Last Chance" over the way.

Then where is your boy that to manhood had grown? Is he reaping the harvest your good deeds have sown? Tell me where he has gone from the threshold tonight? He has murdered a man in that "Place" to the right.

And where is the mother and innocent girls? With laughter and dimples and beautiful curls? The mother lies low in her grave in the lawn, The girls are both gone—never mind where they're gone.

But now you are ragged and wretched and blurred, Your moan is unheeded, unanswered your word, N Where is all you have gotten from near and from far? It's gone over the bar, Sir, over the bar.

And your soul, and the soul of your children. Pray tell? Why, in yonder saloon I have sold them to hell; Yes, all I have gotten from near and from far, Has gone over the bar, Sir, over the bar.

—Martha Wintermute, Newark, O.

the burden of $5,645.16 a year is imposed upon the county in this single item by the saloons.

The County Infirmary costs $16,111.60. And the Infirmary Directors have figured that 90 per cent. of these people are there because of intemperance, or because of intemperance among those on whom they are dependent for support, which gives us the vast amount of $14,490.44 imposed upon the county in this item by the saloons.

In the County Jail there were 264 persons confined last year. Seventy of these were committed on charges of drunk and disorderly. And of the remaining 194 the charges placed against them were in many cases traceable to drink. Now the Sheriff's fees last year were $6,204.99, and the cost of keeping the prisoners was $7,046.60.

These four items, after charging only half the sheriff's fees and half the cost of the "Drunks and Disorderlies," make a total of $26,761.35.

Now the county received from the saloon tax, $16,959.51, which falls short of the expense which the saloons caused the county by more than $10,000.

How is this more than $10,000.00 made up? Why, by the taxpayers, through the county levy. That explains why your tax levy is going up.

The superintendent of the Cuyahoga county workhouse made the following statement: Of the 2370 inmates all but 19 are there because of drink.

Speaking of taxes, what do the taxpayers think of the saloonkeeper who do not pay a cent on their saloon fixtures, booze and gambling paraphernalia?

The largest grocer in Marion says that his sales are 10 per cent greater every day since the saloons were put out of business in that fair city.

Over 50 per cent. of the 1675 inmates of the Ohio penitentiary went from the back door of the saloon to the front door of the penitentiary—the exact number is 1375. Chaplain Starr.

Over 20,000 men, women, boys and girls of Ohio lost their way from the saloon to the jail, asylum, almshouse or reformatory. What an army! What a price for the privilege of having liberty leaguers loose among us!

Whose Business?

Some of the "Wets" are saying that it is not the business of Licking County whether Newark is "Dry." It is Newark's business. "Let the people in the other towns and in the country attend to their own business and let Newark attend to its own business," is their cry.

Newark is the county seat and the people of all the county are closely and organically connected with it. The saloon keepers of that city did not build the city, they had only a small part in it. The Court House that stands in the center of the public square was built by the taxpayers of the county. To it the farmers of the county go to pay their taxes; there the young people must go to secure marriage licenses; there are the records of the deeds of the lands of all the county; thither the citizens of the townships are summoned to serve as jurymen; thither men and boys, women and girls, are summoned to serve as witnesses in various trials; there the assessors must make their returns—in brief, it is the center of the public business of the county.

It is a center of private business also. Near the public square is the general market. "Yes, Newark's own market," some one says. But there are two parties to a sale. The citizens of Newark, for the most part, are on the one side and the farmers of the county are the principal part of the other side. There they assemble because of common interest. If the citizens of the county, or smaller towns, frequent the saloons while in the city, the saloon keeper will sell to them without the slightest hesitation. If they become intoxicated, as they sometimes do, it is well understood that they are even more liable to arrest than the men who live in the city. Is it no concern of the farmer when his hired hand leaves the team to be cared for by strangers at the farmer's expense while the hired man sobers off behind the bars? Is it no concern of the mother that her son returns not during the long anxious hours of the night? Is it no concern of the farmer's wife when her husband spends most of his money in drinking and in subsequent debauchery? Is it any of her business when the saloon keeper takes in the money that ought to have been paid for shoes, clothes and sugar, which she and her children must then go without, or must receive as a charity from her temperate neighbors? Is it any business of the starving children in the country and in the surrounding towns when their names are disgraced by their father's drunken follies and crimes, while the Newark saloon keepers bank the money that ought to have been paid for the necessities of life?

When Newark saloonkeepers retire from the vicinity of the Court House for some out of the way section of the city, when they sell only to the citizens of Newark and keep their customers inside the city limits until they are sober, when they cease to sell to customers who smuggle intoxicating drink into "dry" towns and townships, when Newark keeps her criminals within her own corporation and gathers up and cares for and atones for the imbecility, pauperism and crimes for which her saloons are responsible, then, perhaps, she can rightfully say, "It is none of your business."

In the meantime, let us not forget that this cry comes not from Newark as a city, not from the population as a whole, but from a class.

Granville Township

REMARKABLE THANKSGIVING WEATHER

Thursday proved a dismal day for Thanksgiving, and the most remarkable weather in years on this particular day was noticed by observers. Instead of the blowing cold and fits of snow which usually mark our Thanksgiving days, the thermometer at the Central fire station registered 60 degrees at 9:30 a. m. Wednesday evening between 8 and 9 o'clock the air was oppressive, the mercury registering nearly 70. During the forenoon the clouds broke at intervals, but not for long. The weather man promises a rain tonight, followed by colder weather Friday, with snow flurries in the northern part of the state in the lake region, according to the early morning predictions.

ACT QUICKLY.

Delay Has Been Dangerous in Newark.

Do the right thing at the right time. Act quickly in times of danger. Backache is kidney danger.

Doan's Kidney Pills act quickly. Cure all distressing, dangerous kidney ills.

Plenty of evidence to prove this. Mrs. Bruce Ferrel, residing on Railroad street, Dresden O., says: "While a young girl a heavy weight fell on me and left my kidneys in a very disordered condition. My back gave me a great deal of annoyance and I suffered from bearing down pains which seemed to be as severe during the night as during the day and greatly disturbed my rest. I arose feeling very tired in the morning and had very little energy or ambition during the day. Finally I procured Doan's Kidney Pills, began their use and they positively cured me. I do not hesitate to recommend Doan's Kidney Pills to all sufferers of kidney complaint."

Plenty more proof like this from Newark people. Call at A. F. Crayton's drug store and ask what customers report.

For sale by all dealers. Price 50c. Foster-Milburn Co., Buffalo, New York, sole agents for the United States.

Remember the name—Doan's—and take no other. 49

NOTICE

To the Carpenters and Joiners of Newark, that Howard Andrews, president of Carpenters' Union, is not neutral, but has signed the petition for local option and is working at all times to have it carry. Tell the truth young man. Brother carpenter, do you know if county local option carries, according to Birmingham, Ala., you will have to pay a license of $35 before you can work, and further there will be nothing to do at our trade, as there will be many empty houses.

Brother carpenter, don't be fooled. Yours fraternally,
adv-t. 14 CARPENTER.

FOR SALE BY CLIFF L. STURGEON

I have a large number of Turkeys, Geese and Ducks engaged to come in Tuesday and Wednesday, and will take your order at the very lowest possible prices. They will be cheaper than last year. Give me your order as early as possible.

OYSTERS! Of course you will want some of them, too. Our Standards are simply fine and only 35c. per quart, solid measure. We will have plenty of them.

CURTIS BROS. CANNED GOODS are here and will be delivered in plenty of time for Thanksgiving. We bought largely for our regular trade in addition to the large number of orders taken in the fall and will make same prices as long as the goods last, but we can't order any more, as this year's pack is all sold.

BUTTER—You will make a mistake if you don't give us standing orders for butter. It will cost no more than the common, strong stuff you buy elsewhere.

CHEESE—Best New York Cream Cheese, same make that has been sold at this stand for years.

NOT UNDERSOLD by any good legitimate firm in Ohio, quality, quantity and terms considered. Bring your Chicago price lists and give me the same kind of an order you have been sending away. One man who ordered Tea from a mail order house tells me, "Faith, I don't think it was the Tea I ordered." Others have a similar experience. Buy your groceries at home, where you are sure of getting what you pay for.

EXTERNAL REMEDY FOR ECZEMA.
Why Salves Fail While a Simple Liquid Has Accomplished Thousands of Cures.

It is now thoroughly established among the best medical authorities that eczema is purely a skin disease, due to a germ, and curable only through the skin. It is not a blood disease at all; in fact, thousands of people suffer with skin disease and are perfectly healthy otherwise, and therefore prove they have no diseased blood. Smeary salves cannot reach the germs because they do not penetrate the skin. The only way to reach the germs is by means of a penetrating liquid. Such a liquid can be obtained by simply mixing ordinary oil of wintergreen with thymol, glycerine and other healing agents. This compound known as D. D. D. Prescription stops the itch instantly—and the cure all appear to be permanent. In fact, it took thousands of cures, case after case, before the best scientific authorities were convinced of the absolute merit of this remedy. The effect of D. D. D. Prescription in numbing the itching eczema germs is seen within one minute after the first application. We especially recommend D. D. D. Soap in connection with this treatment. Frank D. Hall.

RAILWAY AFFAIRS

The slight advance in freight proposed by the railroads is likely to receive little opposition from the shippers, but necessity for some change being recognized. If the employees of the road are to get the advantage of good wages, the freight rates must help provide the necessary money, especially as passenger rates have been greatly reduced by law. The general public is disposed to give the railroads fair play in the matter, but strenuous objection will be raised to a reasonable adjustment of rates.

IT WILL BE A CASE OF TOO MUCH FAMILY AMBITION AND ARROGANCE

One of the greatest mistakes of the late election was the failure on the part of Ohio voters to choose a Legislature that would have sent the popular James E. Campbell to the United States Senate. There would have been no scramble had the Legislature been Democratic. The will of the people would have been carried out at one sitting of the joint meeting of the two houses and our state would have honored herself by maintaining her prestige in the United States Senate.
But the power of George B. Cox was too potent, and such a fortunate choice of a United States Senator is now impossible.

The result, of course, promises a scramble for the place, and a condition is already apparent that bodes no credit to the State.

Already half a score of second and third rate candidates are in the field for the Republican nomination to succeed the brilliant and once powerful Foraker.

Among these is the Presidentelect's brother, Charles P. Taft of Cincinnati, whose election would produce a spectacle never before witnessed in this republic. One Taft in the White House and another in the Senate would be an assumption of family ambition and arrogance that the people of the United States could not tolerate to say the least.

COLUMBUS

Fireman Brings Friend to Licking
County to Do Some Hunting—Luck Against Them.

Driver Tom Rafferty of engine company No. 6, of the Columbus fire department, formerly lived in Newark, and while in the confines of Licking county, Tom was known as a hunter (?), born and bred, but since he has lived in Columbus he has had hard luck in trying to convince his mates at the fire department of the fact.
Still Tom used all his persuasive eloquence and even topped the talk off with absolute proof. He bought a gun and announced that he would sojourn in Licking county for the period of a few hours and slaughter
the festive rabbit and the elusive quail, and, as a result of his "nim-rodding" he would supply his house-mates with game for the next week, at least.

With this idea in view he induced Lineman Van Kirk to accompany him to his old home, and, confidentially, of course, he narrated stories of his youthful days in the county that showed that beyond a doubt he knew every foot of the ground
"down Hanover-way." He did, but the result of hours of hard plodding only resulted in the sportsmen kicking up one lone rabbit, and the "bunny" escaped in a pile of brush.
Since Tom returned to Columbus he has had a hard time explaining matters, for he returned empty-handed, for, despite his most earnest efforts he was unable even to find a bird or a rabbit on market. Still he did shoot at a paper target, that he completely missed, according to his friend, but to make his bluff good he punctured the paper with a lead pencil point to make it look as though a charge of shot had riddled it. Now he is living in hourly fear that his friend, the lineman, will discover the latest deception of his.

A Talk on Economy

NOT AMISS THESE HARD TIMES.
Sixty-five per cent of the human body is composed of water. Now does it pay to keep this supply renewed from sources of purity? You wouldn't think of taking impure food into the stomach. Yet the presence of impure water is much more general throughout the body. It has been conclusively proven that the blood drinking of a pure, active Spring Water will do more to promote health than any other means.

A THANKSGIVING SACRIFICE

BY
WILLIS B. HAWKINS
COPYRIGHT, 1908, BY WILLIS B. HAWKINS.

THANKSGIVIN', when the family all
Was sittin' round the table,
Pa said us children should recall,
As far as we was able,
The many blessin's we had known
Since las' Thanksgiving' day
An' let our gratitude be shown
In some substantial way.

"Twon't do," says he, "to jes' confess You're under obligation.
You've got to show your thankfulness
By more than conversation;
You've got to do some actial thing
That's worth your while to do,
Er else Thanksgiving' day won't bring Its meed of joy to you."

"YOU'VE GOT TO DO SOME ACTIAL THING."

Then ma spoke up. "It's my idee
You've got to go still fu'ther
An' mortify the flesh," says she,
"In one way er another.
You've got to make some sacrifice,
You've got to stan' some pain
That's hard to bear, er otherwise
Your thanks is all in vain."

"That's so," says pa, an' then an' there
He ast us in rotation
What pain each one of us would bear
To show our obligation.
Sue said she'd give up chewin' gum;
Tom said he'd split some wood;
I jes' kep' on a-keepin' mum
An' thinkin' hard 's I could.

Bimeby pa looked at me an' said,
"I s'pose you heard the question."
An' then it popped into my head
That I'd bear indignation.
"I guess," says I, "I'll take some more
Ice cream an' chocolate cake,
Then curl myself up on the floor
An' stan' the stomach ache."

QUICK WIT SAVED HIM.

The Way a Criminal Fooled a Paris
Police Chief.

In the "Memories" of M. Claude, chief of police during the reign of Napoleon III, there is much that is fascinating to lovers of detective stories.
One of M. Claude's experiences was that in which he was entangled by a clever criminal who saw in the police chief's resemblance to Beranger when the poet was at the height of his popularity a means of escape from capture. The criminal had returned to Paris and was living as a rich student in the Latin quarter, then in the height of his brilliant splendor.
Claude thought to make an easy capture of his man by attending a certain famous ball at the hour when a demon was at its height. He took the story:
"I had no difficulty in discovering him seated among a swarm of pretty girls and bewitching dandies.
"Confound it there were but two ways of getting the better of a cunning enemy—surprise and audacity—I walked straight up to where my man was seated. I walked slowly, with steady steps, my eyes on the eyes of my man.
He was a dark-skinned, handsome fellow, with a face as bronzed as if it were a mask. I saw by an imperceptible sign that he recognized me. He turned

The Wonderful Aphid.
The aphid is in one way the most startling of all forms of insect life, for, although the females can and do lay eggs, its usual method of increase is by a sort of budding process, the young growing on the bodies of the parent exactly as brussels sprouts grow out of the stalks of the plant.
The old produce young at the rate of twenty-five a day, and as the young are at once mature each can produce its twenty-five on the following day.
It positively frightens one to work this multiplication out to a conclusion, for it means this: Supposing that the aphid could increase and multiply without interference, the twenty-fifth generation would be a number too long to quote here. Put down a 1 and follow it with 28 naughts and you will be within a few millions of it.

Scorning His Job.
From what information I gather.
The king has a bit of a snip.
He touches a silver tipped button,
And straightway things fall in his lap—
Most truly a fortunate chap—
But, though all is fish in his net,
I wouldn't trade places with Edward;
I haven't been asked to as yet.

On him lords and dukes dance attendance.
Respect for his title to show.
Each day he lights up after dinner
Cigars at a dollar a throw.
For answer he never gets "No."
But, though his resources are few,
I tell you I wouldn't swap places;
No one has invited me to.

The pay on the job is sufficient.
I do not pretend I'm contented.
Or tickled to death with my lot.
The settings, I feel, are too modest.
The pay doesn't quite touch the spot.
I wish I could cook up a plot,
A plan either new or antique,
To swing it on Edward, old boy,
And make him trade jobs for a week.

Not Convertible.
"All is lost but honor," said the man who had been overwhelmed and gone down in a business reversal.
"Probably," said the sarcastic one who was standing within hearing distance, "that was saved because the creditors couldn't use it."

OHIO ACADEMY OF SCIENCE

WILL HOLD EIGHTEENTH ANNUAL MEETING AT GRANVILLE FRIDAY AND SATURDAY.

Many Noted Men Will be Present and Admirable Arrangements Made For Their Reception.

Granville, Nov. 26.—Big preparations are being made for the entertainment of the representatives of the Ohio Academy of Science, for the 18th annual meeting of the academy, which will be held in Barney memorial hall Friday and Saturday, when it is expected that 70 professors of science from all of the prominent colleges of the state and many from the various state departments, will be in attendance.

The program proper will be introduced by an informal reception held at 8 o'clock Thursday evening at the home of president, Dr. E. W. Hunt of Denison.

Commencing at 8:30 Friday morning, the regular session of the academy will be opened. The program is extensive and is made up of a large number of papers to be read by the visiting scientists, and varying in length from three to 30 minutes, according to the importance of the subject under consideration.

Prof. R. S. Tarr, professor of physical geography in Cornell university, New York State, will consume the evening, Friday, with an extremely interesting educational lecture on the "Glaciers of Mt. St. Elias and Vicinity." Prof. J. A. Bownocker, state geologist, will speak on the coals of the Monongahala found in Ohio.

The noted geologist, Prof. George Frederic Wright of Oberlin, will deliver a number of lectures of interest illustrated with lantern slides.

A number of other noted speakers will deliver addresses upon scientific subjects. Admirable arrangements have been made for the accommodation of the academy. Three rooms of Barney hall have been fitted with projecting lanterns, one of which is equipped with a projectoscope for projecting opaque objects.

Prof. Frank Carney of Denison is president of the academy, and is the third to be chosen for this office from Denison in the past ten years, out of the forty colleges of Ohio. Denison is one of only four colleges in the state having distinct chairs of geology.

The local committee in charge is composed of the following: Prof. Geo. F. McKibben, Mr. W. C. Bolin, Prof. A. M. Brumback, Prof. G. E. Coghlin, Prof. C. D. Coons, Miss C. A. Davies, Mr. K. F. Mather, Prof. M. E. Stickney and Prof. B. E. Trask.

AMUSEMENTS

"A MESSAGE FROM MARS."

Those lovers of a well-constructed drama having in it a deep moral purpose, introduced with some delightfully entertaining comedy, should not miss seeing "A Message From Mars," which opened its engagement for three performances last night. Those who have seen Charles Hawtrey's complete cast in this piece were greatly disappointed in Wednesday night's show, but the play itself is excellent, and those who have never seen it and are unable to compare this production with the one seen here some season's ago, would enjoy it. This play holds the boards this afternoon and evening at the Auditorium theater. B.B.H.

THE PRESS AGENT SAYS:

The Selden-Stetson company will open a week's engagement at the Auditorium theater, beginning Monday, November 30. The company is under the management of Harry Stetson, and headed by the versatile actress, Maude Selden, which is abundant evidence of the excellence of these entertainments. They are equipped with special scenery and effects, which make each play a production. High-class vaudeville will be introduced between acts. Their opening play will be "Lady Audley's Secret." Prices, 10c, 20c, 30c, and 50c. Ladies free, Monday.

J. Aldrich Libbey and Kathryn Trayer, operatic singers, will appear at the Orphium today, Friday and Saturday in their high-class turn of operatic selections. These performers are known from one end of the country to the other, and the fact that Mr. Libbey was for years identified with the famous Bostonians, promises well for them. The press is loud in their praise. The rest of the bill for the second half is equally chosen for entertaining quantities.

Avoid Constipation Above All Things

Constipation may almost be called the curse of America. Nearly 9 out of 10 people need laxatives often, also the doctor just registered. Constipation and sluggish liver are not only uncomfortable, but dangerous. Typhoid, Appendicitis, etc., are the results. Look the facts squarely in the face. Don't you need to help the liver and bowels more than you do—don't you want to live longer? But help them—don't force them—that is important. Use a mild laxative and a health tonic.

Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets

is the one effective remedy for a constipated liver. It is gentle, yet it is powerful. It is the only one that is a health tonic and at the same time a laxative. You do not know it is a laxative until you have tried it. It is the only one that is a health tonic and at the same time a laxative. You do not know it is a laxative until you have tried it.

FLOATING TELESCOPE.

Harvard Instrument That May Reveal Stars of Eighteenth Magnitude.

A telescope that floats in a tank of water instead of being mounted on a solid pier was recently installed at the Harvard observatory. The instrument is of the reflecting type and is the largest of its kind in the world. The object mirror being five feet across.

The instrument proper is mounted on a water tight cylindrical steel float, which is buoyed up by water in a concrete tank only slightly larger than the cylinder and shaped to fit it. The cylinder is inclined and serves as the polar axis of the telescope.

It does not float freely in the tank, but has a delicate pivot at each end to hold and guide it. The water, however, bears all the weight, so that none of it rests on the pivots. All movements of the telescope are regulated by electric motors. The great glass mirror is so arranged that it can easily be removed and resilvered whenever it grows dim, although its weight is about two tons.

The whole instrument is mounted in the open air, but the image is reflected to an eyepiece in an adjoining building, where the observer sits. The telescope is expected to reveal stars of the seventeenth or eighteenth magnitude, possibly even fainter ones, and work may thus be done with it that would be impossible with any other instrument.

BIGGEST NAVAL DRYDOCK.

Monster For Pearl Harbor to Have Room For Two Big Warships.

Acting Secretary of the Navy Newberry recently approved plans for the largest naval drydock in the world at Pearl harbor, Hawaii, the place which is to be made the Gibraltar of the Pacific. Bids for its construction will be opened early in 1909. It is the purpose of the department to hurry the work to completion.

The dock is to be 1,100 feet long and 110 feet wide, with a depth on its sill of thirty-five feet. It will have a gate so that it can be separated into two parts, each independent of the other. Two of the largest ships in the navy can be docked and repaired at the same time. Owing to the great depth of water provided for, even the greater than Dreadnaught ships will be able to enter should they be damaged to the point where they are merely able to keep afloat.

Duke's Remedy For Auto Speed Mania.

The Duke of Northumberland at a conference on the motor question held at the Mansion House in London the other afternoon said he did not believe that the difficulties with motorists would ever be overcome until for certain offenses the penalty was enforced of confiscating the car for so many months. His grace, who did not wish to be too hard on the poor motorist, said: "Let him come and see his car daily if he likes. Let him shed a tear over it daily and see to its health as it should be seen to, but don't let him use it for six months."

MR. COSGROVE EXPLAINS

Pastor of Second Presbyterian Church Writes of the Meeting of Workmen Last Sunday.

Last night's Advocate contained an article signed by the Press Committee of the Workmen's Protective Union in which it was stated I had declared the contents of a letter, in Monday's paper regarding the Sunday afternoon meeting, to be untrue.

Let me explain. Passing along the street on Tuesday I was called aside and asked to read the letter. I did so. I was then asked, having been at the meeting, if the letter were true. "No," I answered, "it is not." I deplored the fact of the letter being printed. The only explanation I could give, not having consulted with the Local Option Committee then or since, was that, in my opinion, it was a caricature on the face of it and was meant as a joke.

Permit me to explain why I was at that meeting. In Thursday's Advocate and I think in the Tribune of the same day, there appeared in a dozen places an invitation in pronounced type as follows:

EVERY WAGE-EARNER AND CITIZEN IS INVITED TO MEET WITH THE WORKINGMEN'S PROTECTIVE UNION, NEXT SUNDAY AT 2 P. M. TO DISCUSS THE COUNTY OPTION QUESTION.

I considered the above to be a many challenge to discuss the whole question and I admitted it. Without consulting or even mentioning it to any one I went to have a part and to give my views in favor of Local Option. I was received with every courtesy but to my great surprise and disappointment, the chairman to whom I was introduced only a moment before and near whom I sat, announced in his opening remarks that no speeches would be allowed and after reports, flavored with little speeches, closed the meeting quickly without giving me or anyone else an opportunity to discuss the question. I complained to him at the close and he laughed good naturedly and reminded me of his announcement that no speeches would be allowed.

I went to that meeting honestly feeling sorry for all men and their families who would unquestionably be financially embarrassed if Local Option carried. "I sat where they sat."

I wanted to plead with them as men, though it meant sacrifice, not to do themselves the dishonor of putting money in the balance against broken hearts.

I wanted to urge them to covet the spirit of Father Damien and the splendid heroes, in blue and gray, of the Civil war that gave what no money could buy, their life blood for others.

I wanted them not to forget that there are in Newark hundreds of despairing mothers and wives, and children who would gladly give the last dime, the last drop of their blood, if they could save their loved ones from a drunkard's doom and bury their own shame.

I wanted to say that the Local Option movement, which I support most heartily, is not final, but with all objections that can be made against it, it is the best method of redressing the wrongs of the drink evil.

I wanted to point out, as a brother, tenderly and lovingly, that in the last analysis, to vote "wet" is not only voting for an ideal, but giving an unqualified approval and encouragement to the present conditions.

More Facts About Olive Oil

Cleanliness is a matter of especial interest to every consumer of food and medicine. In the manufacture of any oil, when the difficulties encountered are considered, the matter of cleanliness and absolutely sanitary conditions is of especial importance. There is no country where these matters are given so much consideration as ours, and no more conspicuous example could be selected than the home of "Sylmar" Brand Olive Oil. It was here a few months ago that an inspector after giving the entire plant and premises the closest scrutiny declared that in 20 years work as inspector this was the only plant of this kind with which he could find no fault. Such an example could not be found in any country importing Olive Oil here. On the contrary a little reflection would satisfy the thoughtful that anxiously different condition exists. We sell "Sylmar" Brand Olive Oil exclusively.

KITCHEN GYMNASTICS.

The Best of Physical Exercise May Be Obtained at Home.

Have you ever observed how closely the muscular movements brought about by the good, old fashioned occupations of sweeping, dusting and more especially bedmaking resemble the physical culture exercises which are so markedly the "proper case" among women just at the present time? Among certain unusually athletic creatures the strenuous relaxation known as "bag punching" has achieved great vogue. The time has gone—not forever, let us hope—when this highly exciting pastime was the exclusive property of the man who was in training for a fictitious encounter. Some of the best women's clubs in the country now make a feature of this exercise, and for some reason which is hardly susceptible of explanation it has become quite popular.

PUNCHING THE BAG.

Of course the fashionable women who devote themselves so assiduously to the punching of the leather sphere could obtain the same exercise at home. All that would be necessary would be to make their own beds and as many others as they chose, putting as much vigor into the operation as they could spare and dealing as energetically with their pillows and bolsters as if they were objects deserving of punishment. Even turning a mattress entails an effort which brings into play most of the muscles of the back and shoulders. Let no woman be excluded from the pleasure and benefit of the punching exercise on account of her inability to frequent a gymnasium. Brisk dusting and sweeping are well calculated to provide abundant healthful exercise at the minimum of cost to every woman who will give housework a trial.

Recently I heard a young girl of my acquaintance complain because she couldn't afford an expensive course of physical culture. "Why not try household gymnastics?" I asked her. "Why not get up a real interest in the actual business of keeping the house? Try it for a month and see what it will do for your health and good looks." "I don't see what it can do for my good looks," she objected, "except to roughen and blacken my hands and make my back ache like mamma's." "Don't believe anything of the kind," I insisted. "At your age your mother had not heard of backache, nor will it bother you if you give the muscles of your back and shoulders the proper exercise. All women must have a certain amount of physical exercise to keep them in perfect health. All of them cannot afford an expensive course in physical culture, but they need not be deprived of it on that account. The muscles of the spine, the shoulder blades, the arms and the body generally are brought into action by sweeping, dusting and bed making."

Girls who are not expected to assist in the household duties should not forget that an hour's brisk work as an amateur chambermaid each morning will do more for their good looks than all the beauty doctors in the land. It is not always easy for the business woman to find the time, but even half an hour at bustling housework combined with a walk to and from business will work wonders in the way of keeping her muscles in proper condition.

Many a peevish, sallow skinned and thoroughly discontented woman could be transformed into something that would please even her if she could be persuaded to take a good, liberal dose of housework. There is nothing prescribed so frequently by reputable physicians as exercise. Medical writers are constantly pointing out the danger of lack of proper exercise. There is not an intelligent medical man in the country who disapproves of "kitchen gymnastics" properly conducted.

Now, to the sensible woman who makes up her mind to go in for household gymnastics let me give this closing advice: Housework done with open windows and with plenty of pure air in close proximity is ten times more productive of satisfactory results than the same amount of exercise taken in badly ventilated quarters. It is a good idea also to vary the type of exercise as much as possible. Ironing for two or three consecutive hours keeps a certain set of muscles on tension. Bending over to sweep a dozen rooms with a small broom would be exceedingly fatiguing and far too great a muscular strain if there were no intervals of rest. It is a good plan to stop occasionally and try simple movements of the arms and body. In other words, don't overdo household gymnastics. SHIRLEY REESE.

Jane Ward's Thanksgiving

By CLARISSA MACKIE

Copyright, 1908, by American Press Association

JANE WARD bent over her knitting, her wrinkled face puckered into harsh lines that belied the mild brown eyes behind the steel bowed spectacles. Jane's chair was drawn in front of the stove, and her clicking needles kept time to the ticking of the big clock.

Suddenly the door opened, and another woman entered. She was tall and thin, with scanty dark hair strained away from her forehead.

"Howdy do, Jane Ward?" she said in a deep masculine voice, seating herself in the Boston rocker, where she could stare into Jane Ward's face. "I thought I'd run in and see what preparations you was making for Thanksgiving this year."

Jane Ward looked up. "I ain't making none," she said, with a little snarl of her lips, "and you know it, Esther Pike. You know I ain't keeping Thanksgiving any more."

"You're tempting Providence, Jane," returned the other woman succinctly. "Tempting fiddsticks!" snorted Jane contemptuously. "I kept Thanksgiving for thirty years, and you've et with me often enough to know that I kept it well!"

Esther Pike winced. "There ain't no denying but you set a mighty liberal table, Jane," she said hastily. "What I meant was that it does seem dreadful wicked for you to set up and say you won't keep no Thanksgiving when every soul in Upper Village is laying out to have something. Even the darkies down in the Patch are!"

Jane Ward arose and straightened her little figure. She pointed a shining needle at Esther Pike, who wriggled as though she were impaled upon its end. "How many years is it since I kept Thanksgiving, Esther Pike?" demanded Jane.

"Oh, four or five, I guess," replied Miss Pike reluctantly.

"Ain't it ever since my son Asa was lost at sea?" quavered Jane Ward.

"Yes—for goodness' sake—yes. Of course I know it, Jane. I didn't mean no harm." Miss Pike was visibly alarmed at Jane's strange manner.

"Ain't you been here every Thanksgiving eve to ask me if I was going to keep Thanksgiving?"

"Yes," returned Esther as faintly as her booming tones would allow.

"What is it you're trying to find out, then?" demanded Jane Ward harshly. "Do you think I'm going to keep Thanksgiving just because you come and tell me I'm flying in the face of Providence if I don't? Providence! Humph!"

Esther Pike paled and rose to her ungainly height. "I guess I'll be going, Jane Ward," she said sourly. "I ain't partial to visiting blasphemers!" Jane sat down in her chair again.

"Well, Esther, by the time you've made the round of Upper Village and told everybody that Jane Ward's a blasphemer it'll be time to get home and set your own pot-a-billig!"

The door slammed sharply, and Jane Ward, bending over her knitting, felt the hot tears dropping on the blue sock. She was thinking of that Thanksgiving eve five years before, when she had watched for Asa's return. The pantry was greening with toothsome viands. Asa's favorite pies stood in a row on the shelf, and Asa's cookies and Asa's doughnuts awaited him in deep, cool pots. The turkey was stuffed and waiting, the cranberry sauce molded in the best glass preserve dish.

THE DOOR WAS FLUNG OPEN AND—

Asa's room was warmed and waiting. His slippers stood before the fire, where the Boston rocker awaited his first body. The great fire on the hearth reflected all these things and shone on Jane's tired, eager face, watching at the window, when Captain Smith came halting up the path and told her, the gate, a man overboard. Asa Ward—that was all. The bluff old captain went away, and Jane Ward, in a fury of grief, devastated her lander and threw the viands to the fowls. Jane lived alone after that, her story resignation broken by occasional fierce bursts of grief. Never after that night did Jane Ward keep Thanksgiving. She took a fierce delight in fasting on that particular day that was set apart for thanksgiving. Twilight gathered in, and Jane light ed a lamp and made a cup of tea. Then she got out some apple sauce and bread and butter and ate her supper. After that was over she washed the dishes and set down again before the fire. Somehow tonight seemed different from former Thanksgivings ever. There was a reminder of that other night when Asa did not come in the low wall of the wind through the oak trees, and the swishing of the locust boughs against the roof sounded like the rush of waves.

There was a fiercer blast, a rising shriek, and Jane arose and clasped her hands to her ears. A shudder of superstitious horror crept over her, and her skin seemed to shrink as the little house rocked on its foundation. Then the wind subsided as suddenly as it had arisen and there was dead stillness.

Jane sank trembling to her knees. "Lord, whatever has come over me?" she whispered brokenly. "I am weak as a baby to be scared by a squall like that." She knelt there for a long time with closed eyes, and then gradually there came a great peace into her worn face. Her lips moved noiselessly, and Jane Ward prayed.

"I'll do what I can to give a feast to some poor soul," murmured Jane as she got upon her feet. "God forgive me for a sinful woman."

She lighted a lantern and, tying a shawl over her head, went out into the night. It was moonlight, and the path to the chicken house was a broad, white way, down which her little figure walked, leaving a grotesque, black shadow behind it. The air was crisp and sharp, and there was a light wind—a singular change from the sudden squall that had so unnerved her.

Jane pushed the door open and looked around. The large white rooster, the youngster of the flock and the apple of Jane Ward's eye, grumbled at the crowing hens about him.

He sat invitingly near the door. If he had been in the topmost corner of the roost Jane Ward would have captured him that night.

She had never killed a chicken in her life—the sight of blood made her faint—yet somehow she slew the white rooster, and while his headless body still contorted before her horrified eyes she returned to the roost and sacrificed yet another victim.

She carried them to the house. She built a roaring fire in her cooking stove; she picked, cleaned and washed the chickens and set them in the cool pantry. She went to the cellar and brought up a pumpkin. That night she made pumpkin pies; she made cookies and doughnuts; she got apples from the garret and cider from the cellar.

She built a fire in the drum stove in Asa's room. She aired his bed and warmed it with the old brass warming pan. She made all ready for the coming of some one as she had made ready five years ago.

It was 3 o'clock when Jane Ward went to bed, and the tired old woman fell immediately into a deep, sound sleep from which she did not awaken until the morning was well advanced. With unabated vigor Jane prepared her Thanksgiving dinner. The chickens were roasting in the oven; the table in the dining room was spread with a spotless cloth; the blue and white dishes reflected the firelight; the sun shone on the glass dishes of currant jelly and turned them into glowing rubies. Above all was the Thanksgiving atmosphere.

Esther Pike tramped heavily into the kitchen and stopped short at the sight of Jane Ward. Jane was peeling vegetables. There were great golden turnips, silver skinned onions, crisp white potatoes, crackling spicy celery.

"Good morning, Esther Pike," said Jane kindly. "I was afraid I'd scared you away for good and all last night. I hope you don't mind what a disappointed old woman says out of the hardness of her heart."

"Land, no!" ejaculated Esther cordially. "I am dreadful pleased you've come to your senses, Jane Ward! Going to have company to dinner?" she asked eagerly.

"I don't know," returned Jane soberly. "I'll have whoever the Lord sends. My table is waiting for the hungry and the needy."

"Land, it makes me hungry to smell all your good things," returned Esther merrily.

"You staying with Aunt?" asked Jane abruptly.

"Yes; we're going to have roast pork and apple sauce."

"That ain't to be despised," returned Jane.

"I thought you wasn't going to keep Thanksgiving no more, Jane Ward," said Esther presently, with a keen glance at the old woman.

"I wasn't going to till I got to thinking things over, and I made up my mind I would keep it every year," said Jane slowly, while her faded eyes filled with tears.

"Well, I guess I'll be going along. Seems too bad if nobody comes along. You'll have a lot of vittals on your board," said Esther, rising and peering into the well-laid pantry.

"I guess so, indeed. I'll come along before night," replied Jane. "If there don't, the food won't be wasted."

"Maybe I'll come over tomorrow," remarked Esther, with a flickering hope in her eyes. "Perhaps I'll come over and bring my knitting."

"Do," said Jane, without enthusiasm.

She carried an armful of wood upstairs and filled the drum stove in Asa's room. It made a cheery roar as the flames leaped up the chimney, and Jane listened with a rapidly beating heart. It did seem as though Asa must be coming. Everything bore such an old familiar look. The cold loneliness of the later years had slipped away, and it needed only the firm, light step bounding up the stairs to wipe out all those bleak years and bring back the warm, beautiful past.

Captain Smith rolled down the street toward the station. He turned once and watched a rabbit scuttling across the road, and his mouth watered as he thought of the delectable rabbit pie that was browning in the Smith oven at that moment.

When he faced about again he stared into the eyes of a stranger—no, not a stranger, but a ghost, for the sea does not give up her dead. So it must be a ghost!

A hard hand on his shoulder, a familiar voice ringing in his ears—the hand and voice of Asa Ward! But Asa Ward was dead!

"Hello, captain! Tell me how my dear old mother is. I haven't heard a word in years, and I've written, God knows I have written!" Tears fell down Asa Ward's bronzed cheeks and splashed upon the hands which were tightly clasped in Captain Smith's.

"She's all right, boy," wheezed the captain joyfully, now fully convinced that the substantial hands he held were not ghostly ones, "but she's grieved herself most to death. It will be a great shock to her!"

"Take me to her now, captain, or stay, is she still in the old place?"

"Yes. But where have you been? We thought you were lost!"

"I was picked up by a southbound tramp steamer and carried around the cape to the south sea islands and China. I got a job on a Yangtze river steamer and wrote mother regularly. I don't know why she did not hear. Then I wrote to you, and I have been afraid to come home for!" His voice broke.

"Run along, lad. Jane Ward is waiting for you. Joy never kills. Make haste."

Jane Ward surveyed the table wistfully. It was set now with all the viands, and no stranger had come to partake of them; she felt no appetite for them herself. She turned away with a sudden revulsion of feeling and a sharp return of the old bitterness.

At that instant the gate creaked. There was the light, firm step on the path. The door was flung open, and—"Asa! Asa! Asa!" she cried joyfully. "The Lord is very good!"

We Send Your Money Back To You

WE urge you to put this month's Hampton's in strictest comparison with the interest, the quality and value of every other magazine that you buy or know.

We tell you that HAMPTON'S, today, in point of editorial quality and value, is in the front rank of American magazines.

It is not likely that you are timid about risking 15c. for a magazine that you have never read before,—You are only a little distrustful of promises,—and we have to get past that distrust of yours.

If you think this advertisement is merely an effort to get you to buy one issue of Hampton's, you are mistaken. Here is our offer:

We promise you "money's worth or money back" (Yes,—That is rather a departure from literary tradition, but don't worry about that.) It is the only way we can think of to prove to you that the price you pay for your first copy of Hampton's is no more to us than it is to you.

Won't you admit that we must be pretty sure that Hampton's will please you. How else could we dare to make an offer like this to the millions of people who will see this advertisement?

Get Hampton's from your news dealer TODAY—if he isn't sold out before you get there. If he has not Hampton's, send us 15c and the name (or at least the exact location) of your news dealer. BUSINESS MEN'S LEAGUE DEFINES ITS ATTITUDE

Offers Strong Grounds for Opposing County-Wide Prohibition

Regulate Saloon vs. Lawless Speak-Easy---Tax Problem Important---Nothing Gained for Temperance by County Option.

To the Voters of Licking County:

The critical period of the county option campaign is now upon the voters of this county and it is fitting that the Business Men's and Taxpayers' League should state clearly, for the benefit of all interested, the objects which this organization has in view and the motives that inspire it.

At the outset it should be understood that this organization is not opposed to township local option. Such option is truly "local," but county option is not local. Under the Beat Law the farmer already has the right to vote for local prohibition, and in some cases he has exercised that right in Licking county. When he did so, however, the city of Newark and the other large communities in the county did not interfere with him. Yet it is now proposed that the rural districts shall dictate to the city and the other large communities what they shall do, against their will. We submit that this is un-American. It is opposed to home rule and to every principle on which our government, national, state and municipal, is formed.

We also oppose county option because experience has shown that prohibition is invariably a failure in large communities and is followed by evils far worse than any that can be attributed to the open saloon. The prohibitionists talk a good deal about "saving the boy" from the open saloon, but they never say anything about saving him from the speak-easy, the blind tiger, the club room, where gambling is always prevalent, or from the boot-legger, whose operations under prohibition are universal and irrepressible. These are the evils that follow in the wake of prohibition in all of our larger communities. We oppose the speak-easy on higher and more practical grounds than those on which the prohibitionists oppose the open saloon; and we therefore claim that our moral standard is at least equal to theirs. The difference between us is that the prohibitionist strives for an ideal and in falling short of it creates greater abuses than existed before, while we propose to regulate and eliminate, as far as possible, the evils which the prohibitionist would innocently or otherwise create.

We further oppose prohibition for the whole of Licking county, because it would deprive our people of more than $85,000 in revenue under the present tax. This revenue must be made up in some way, if the saloon tax is eliminated, and in that event this new burden of taxation must fall principally upon the owners of real estate. The farmer and home-owner will have to bear it, because their property can not be concealed from the tax assessor. Prohibition in Licking county would mean either increased taxes to the amount of more than $85,000 per year, or it would mean the crippling of the police force and the entire public service of Newark and other large communities, while bankrupting their treasuries and stunting their growth.

If anything were to be gained for temperance by adopting this course, the people of Licking county might willingly make the sacrifice; but when we consider that the sacrifice would be useless, so far as temperance is concerned, it is worse than folly to ask them to make it.

We deplore the falsehood, the misrepresentation and abuse which the prohibition managers have already injected into the campaign. There is always enough bitterness in such controversies without descending to indecency; and we regret that the prohibition managers have already adopted the meanest of weapons in their literary material and in public addresses.

On our part we pledge ourselves to a campaign of reason and respectability. On the foregoing grounds, and in the interest of practical temperance, we invite the support of all voters who may be induced to join with us in rebuking the contemplated raid upon our county treasury and the proposed substitution of the blind tiger and the speak-easy for a reasonable regulation of the liquor traffic.

Respectfully submitted,
THE BUSINESS MEN'S AND TAXPAYERS' LEAGUE OF LICKING COUNTY.

GUARDING THE PLANT

STATE MILITIA ON DUTY AT PERTH AMBOY GUARDING
PROPERTY.

Strikers are Cowed and But Little More Trouble is Feared—A Number Wounded.

Perth Amboy, N. J., Nov. 2.—With a battalion of state militia guarding the plants of the National Fireproofing company here, no further trouble with the strikers is expected today. The men, who are almost entirely aliens, seem to have been thoroughly cowed by the display of armed forces and the result of the affray yesterday when seven of their number were wounded, three fatally, by deputy sheriffs' fusillade. The troops were ordered out by Government Fort late yesterday following the attack made by 1,000 strikers on the Standard plant at Kew-Fly.

Prices of all living increased, the only exception Mrs. Austin's pancake flour. Same old price at all best grocers.

REGISTRATION DAYS

The registration days for the local option election to be held in Licking county are Friday and Saturday, November 27 and 28. On the days above mentioned the registrars of the different wards and precincts will be at the several voting places from 8 a. m. to 2 p. m., and from 4 to 9 p. m., for the purpose of receiving registration and transfers. The Board of Deputy State Supervisors of Election will be in session on the afternoon of December 5 for the purpose of issuing orders of registration from 5 to 7 o'clock.

A BRIDE'S RESOLUTION.

A Massillon girl fell in love, one day, with a fellow residing in Canton, they say, and after a time, on this true story goes, the Canton young man to the girl did propose. Engagement's announced, and the wedding is soon, and now they are planning a long honeymoon; but the dear little bride-to-be whistled last night, "I'll use Spartan Stain to keep our home bright." Spartan Stain is a very high grade varnish stain for floors and woodwork and furniture. Made by the Marietta Paint and Color Co., Marietta, Ohio. Sold by the Newark Paint Co., 31 West Church street.

The registration today, the first of the days allowed for registration for the wet and dry election, December 7, was very light, it going to show that the registration at the time of the presidential election was almost complete. Some of the precincts did not register a man all day, while at the central fire department but one man had registered up to 2 o'clock.

Sells New Automobile.
Denis White has the agency of a brand new automobile, called the E. M. F. "30." The company manufacturing this machine bought out the Northern and Wayne companies and consolidated them with the new one. The head of the new concern is the man who made the Ford machine possible. The record already made by the new firm is without an equal in the history of the trade.

Troubles of His Own.
Frank Florio, an interpreter for the B. & O. Railroad is having troubles of his own, according to a report made at police headquarters. He had a boarder whose first name was Peter, but whose last name he didn't think the man's own mother could pronounce, but at least the man skipped out, owing him a $2 board bill. The man of the unpronounceable name offered to leave his grip as security saying he was going to Cleveland to accept a position. He left, but he got his suit case out of an open window. Florio swore to a warrant and got his man at Loar City. When searched no money was found on the person of the prisoner, but later Turnkey McCrum found a belt strapped around his body that contained $20.

KITCHEN HINTS.
Mix prunes and raisins for a supper dish. The raisins give the prunes a tang that is savory.

Save fuel by washing beans and all dried fruit until the water poured off is clear. Then soak overnight, covering them with warm, not cold, water. To get best results with rice wash quickly in cold water and drop slowly into water that is boiling rapidly. Rice prepared in this fashion will be soft and meaty, yet whole, in twenty minutes or half an hour. Have plenty of water in the kettle and drain the rice directly it is cooked—before the water stops boiling.

To get best results with macaroni do not break it before cooking. Drop it whole into salted boiling water, cook twenty minutes, drain in a colander, roll it in the baking dish, pour cream sauce over it and finish off with grated cheese and bits of butter. Bake golden brown. You lose much of the substance in breaking it in short lengths before cooking.

To make the mint jelly so popular—and expensive—at exchange and tea rooms try this recipe: Wash and bruise a bunch of fresh mint, cover with a pint of boiling water and simmer very gently fifteen minutes. Strain and to every pint of this liquid while hot allow a package of ready to use lemon jelly powder. Add sugar to taste. Stir until sugar and jelly powder are dissolved. Mold and set on ice to harden. Garnish with fresh mint leaves.

STOP DRINKING!

It was formerly customary for the habitual drinker to take the pledge regularly, sometimes once a year, and sometimes in every fit of remorse that followed his debauches, and then—Break it.
But now it is gradually dawning on the world that pledges do not stop drunkenness. When a man takes a pledge voluntarily, he expects to keep it. Every man expects to keep his word and every broken pledge costs the drunkard many a heartache. But he cannot help it. He fights as long as he can, then succumbs to the craving. The nervous system of the habitual drunkard is diseased and he must have treatment that will cure this condition.

Orrine is sold under a positive guarantee to cure the drink habit or the money will be refunded. No other treatment for the liquor habit is sold under such a liberal guarantee.
Orrine is prepared in two forms: No. 1 a powder, perfectly tasteless and colorless, which can be given secretly in any food or drink. Orrine No. 2 is in pill form, for those who wish to be cured of the habit, and it should be taken by everyone who swears off.

No matter which form of Orrine is used the guarantee is the same. The price of Orrine is $1.00 per box, mailed in plain sealed wrapper upon receipt of price. Write for free booklet on "How to Cure Drunkenness" (mailed in plain sealed envelope.) by The Orrine Co., Washington, D. C. Orrine is sold by Frank D. Hall, 10 North Side Square.

STEEL TARIFF OPPRESSIVE.

But Steel Men Have Strategic Positions in Congress—Little Hope From Republican Revision.

The New York Journal of Commerce in an extended article entitled "Steel Tariff Must Go" reviews the conditions of the iron and steel industry and the prospect of lower duties through revision of the tariff. A Pittsburgh "producer of an important steel line," who buys crude steel as a raw material, is quoted as saying: "It stands to reason that the export record of the United States Steel corporation should dictate an immediate placing on the free list of crude steel, but I do not for a moment imagine that the Republican party, if successful, will make any real attempt to revise the tariff at a special session. That is merely a campaign promise which no experienced man should take seriously."

The Journal of Commerce adds: "Throughout these and other interviews with representatives of the iron and steel trade runs the uniform sentiment that there will be no serious revision of the tariff at a special session and doubt whether there will at any time be a serious revision under Republican auspices. Evidently the campaign promise is not taken seriously at all."

Pointed comment is made on the well known practice of selling steel products abroad at $5 to $10 per ton less than the prices charged in the United States. It is said: "If they (the iron and steel duties) were removed altogether, no less iron and steel would be produced in this country. In fact, their use would be more readily extended, while all industries would feel the impulse."

How little prospect there is for relief against these oppressive taxes under a Republican administration is indicated by the following:

"The strategic position of Representative Ditzell, the special representative of the steel interests on the ways and means committee, and his strong influence with Speaker Cannon assure the predominance of the steel people in the lower house. In the upper chamber much the same situation will be created through Chairman Aldrich, Senator Penrose, Senator Knox and others."

The party which has thrice unconsciously increased tariff taxes in the last generation, showing itself powerless to help the people against special interests, when it now promises "revision" revision must be looked upon as "Greeks bearing gifts."

Constipation

Should not be neglected. It leads to more serious troubles. It shows that the important functions of the liver are imperfectly performed. The best medicine to take for it is the mild, gentle and purely vegetable cathartic.

"MAN IS AS OLD AS HIS STOMACH"

This Persian Epigram Is the Real Gauge of a Man's Life.

The Persians were a very sagacious people, noted among other things, for their deep thinking on life and the things which make up life.

The above epigram shows the wisdom of their thought.

When a man's stomach is able to furnish new material to the system as fast or faster than the natural decay of man requires, then such a man lives his fullest and his best.

When through wrong living or disease a man's stomach begins to tax the other organs and takes from the blood strength which it cannot give back in nourishment taken from food, then begins the death of the man and he decays fast.

The stomach is strong, splendidly strong, and can stand an untold amount of abuse and neglect, but when it dies, man dies.

The stomach gives tons upon tons of good rich blood every year to the system and draws only 680 lbs. of nourishment for its own use. If, however, the food which it receives cannot be turned into blood which is capable of use by the body, then the stomach receives no help from the other organs.

Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets contain the most perfect digestive qualities known to science and at the same time the most powerful. They will mix with the poisonous juices of a sick stomach and digest food in spite of this handicap.

They will stop gas making and bad breath. They tone up the nerves of the whole digestive canal, including those of the stomach.

A single ingredient contains strength enough to digest 3,000 times its weight in mixed food.

They have stood the test of time and today are more sought after than all their imitations combined.

They are used and endorsed by 10,000 physicians. Every druggist sells them, price 50c. It costs nothing to demonstrate their value. Send us your name and address and we will send you a trial package by mail free. Address F. A. Stuart Co., 150 Stuart Bldg., Marshall, Mich.

To Clean the Sink.

Every sink should be provided with a three-cornered sieve made by covering a metal frame with very fine wire netting. When water is thrown into the sink it should be turned into this sieve, which returns every particle of solid matter, preventing its getting into the pipes and causing trouble. It is also much neater. Each morning the sink should be thoroughly cleaned. Dissolve a teaspoonful of Gold Dust washing powder in hot water and with a whisk broom wash the basket thoroughly; then carefully scrub every portion of the sink, pouring some of the hot suds down the pipe to loosen grease that may have gathered in the trap.

GRANVILLE

Granville, O., Nov. 27.—The representatives of the Ohio Academy of Science have captured this place and are now in full possession. In the neighborhood of one hundred distinguished scientists are here, composing one of the most distinguished bodies of men ever assembled in the state. As was stated in Thursday's Advocate a most extensive program had been prepared and is being carried out in every detail.

Thursday evening a very pleasant reception was held at the beautiful home of President E. W. Hunt on College Hill by Dr. Hunt and his estimable wife for the distinguished visitors. Many of the visitors, however, were unable to arrive in time owing to Thanksgiving engagements at home.

The regular session of the academy opened at 8:30 o'clock Friday morning with a full attendance and the address of welcome was delivered by Dr. E. W. Hunt, president of the university.

Friday's session was principally devoted to the reading of papers by the visiting scientists. This evening Prof. R. S. Tarr of Cornell university, will lecture on "The Glaciers of Mt. St. Elias and Vicinity," and Prof. J. A. Bownocker will give a talk on "The Coals of the Monongahela Found in Ohio."

During the sessions of the scientists a number of exceedingly interesting lectures will be delivered.

Misses Alva and Emma Edwards were summoned to their home in Ironton, O., by the serious illness of their father, but before they arrived home he had passed away. Mr. Edwards had been ill for some time.

Leonard Mitchell of Urbana, O., who has been in this vicinity for some days on business, returned home Friday.

A "JOKE" TO CHARGE NEWARK WORKINGMEN WITH CRIME

Shame Upon Those Who Stoop so Low as to Resort to Falsehoods to Gain Their End.

No Regard for Reputation, Honesty or the Rights of a Fellow Citizen---Wage Earners Insulted Daily by the Local Option Leaders.

We read with pleasure the card of Rev. T. A. Cosgrove in Thursday's paper. We have no quarrel with Rev. Cosgrove. We admire and honor him. We know and believe that although disagreeing with us on the issue uppermost, he is fair and honest, qualities that we are not ready to accord to other revered gentlemen engaged in the local option cause.

However we cannot agree with him when he says that the article of which we complain was intended as a "joke."

Is it a joke to charge us with crime? Is it a joke to say "that it was decided to let the dries do the early voting and the wets vote late and each wet have two tickets, one a dummy to be folded nicely in the legal one, so as to invalidate the precinct and get it thrown out. Nice scheme this; it will work too."

If words mean anything that charges ballot box stuffing, it charges an offense against law.

Workingmen, when a charge of that kind is made against you, are you to look upon it as a joke?

Is it a joke upon us and our families to say that we were solicitous about the "loose characters" that would come here and sought a plan "to get them housed before the cold blasts came?"

Workingmen, is it a "joke" to be referred to as the harbors and protectors of prostitutes?

Isn't that what that article says and means?

Our good names, our reputations for honesty and right living mean nothing in the eyes of the men, who fathered that article.

Wage earners, are you, to allow these men to heap insult upon insult upon you.

This article appeared in "Local Option Page of Facts." Then it was a fact, not a joke—or is their page to be regarded as a "Local Option Page of Jokes—or rather lies?"

No! It is not a joke. To accuse honest men of crime—to couple honest men and women with "loose characters"—never was and never can be a joke!

Workingmen, wage earners, what do you say?

PRESS COMMITTEE.

F. E. FITZGIBBON

STATES THE FACTS CONCERNING THE "REAL" INTERVIEW WITH REPORTER.

Also Refers to the "Alleged" Interview of October 28, Which Was Used as a Campaign Fake.

Editor of the Advocate:

In your issue of the 25th inst., the County Local Option Committee take occasion to compare my letter to the Workingmen's Protective Association of November 3d with what was reported to be an interview with the writer on October 28, regarding conditions existing at the Newark, O., plant of the American Bottle Company.

It is true a representative of the American Tribune called at the office and talked with the writer. His mission he stated, was to ascertain if the presidential election had in any way

An Indigestion Remedy Free

Many people who are otherwise healthy suffer from indigestion, or dyspepsia. When you consider that the stomach and allied digestive organs are the most important organs of the body, it would seem that a disorder there is to be taken very seriously.

Dyspepsia cannot eat the things they like; food sours in the stomach; then chronic constipation begins, or, as is often the case, you have been constipated all along, and the stools are forced and irregular.

But there is no use letting indigestion go until it becomes chronic and undermines your health. It is good advice to suggest to you that you go to your drug-gist and get a bottle of Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin, the wonderful cure for stomach, liver and bowel troubles. That is what C. Fowler, of Carson City, Mich. did and he is well today. Others who did the same and are cured are Ida A. Fortune, of Grand Junction, Tenn. B. P. Thompson, of Shenandoah, Ia., who actually considers that it saved his life. You can obtain a 50-cent or $1 bottle of the drug-gist, and taken according to directions, it will probably be all you need. It is a liquid, acts gently, never gripes, and besides the laxative effect, contains exceptional tonic properties which tone the stomach, and that is what is especially needed in indigestion.

All sufferers from indigestion who have never used Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin can obtain a free test bottle by writing the doctor. It will be sent direct to your home without any charge. In this way thousands have proven to their own satisfaction Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin the very remedy they needed to cure indigestion. When once you use this grand remedy you will throw violent cathartics, tablets, salts, etc., away.

If there is anything about your ailment that you don't understand, or if you want any medical advice, write to the doctor, and he will answer you fully. There is no charge for this service. The address is Dr. W. B. Caldwell, 510 Caldwell bldg., Monticello, Ill.

affected our business. I replied that I could not tell whether it had or had not, but that there was a great depression in our business attributable largely to the enactment of certain laws by the last State Legislature, and especially so, in the passage of the ROSE COUNTY LOCAL OPTION BILL.

In reply to his question as to the number of men employed, I stated, that when running at our full capacity there was employed between seventeen and eighteen hundred men and boys.

In reference to the sheds, he asked how many bottles each contained, and was told they contained various amounts from one hundred and fifty to three hundred gross. The question was then asked, how many sheds, or ware bins we had, I told him I could not give the exact number, but that we had such storage capacity that would enable us to store five hundred gross, of bottles. The number of machines he has correct, but there are so many misleading statements in the "ALLEGED INTERVIEW"—that any one having any knowledge, no matter how little, of the bottle business, would look upon it in the light of a joke. In fact the reporter told the writer he could have written it up at his office down town, but always liked to call on the firm so that he could say that he had been there.

The above are the facts in the case, and do not in any way or manner alter my statement of November 23, wherein I stated, that under the existing conditions the wage earner is losing $67,000 per month.

Respectfully,

F. E. FITZGIBBON.

Danderine

GROWS HAIR

and we can

PROVE IT!

A lady from Minnesota writes:
"As a result of using Danderine, my hair is close to five feet in length."

Beautiful Hair at Small Cost

HAIR troubles, like many other diseases, have been wrongly diagnosed and altogether misunderstood. The hair itself is not the thing to be treated, for the reason that it is simply a product of the scalp and wholly dependent upon its action. The scalp is the very soil in which the hair is produced, nurtured and grown, and it alone should receive the attention if results are to be expected. It would do no earthly good to treat the stem of a plant with a view of making it grow and become more beautiful—the soil in which the plant grows must be attended to. Therefore, the scalp in which the hair grows must receive the attention if you are to expect it to grow and become more beautiful.

Loss of hair is caused by the scalp drying up, or losing its supply of moisture or nutriment, when baldness occurs the scalp has simply lost all its nourishment, leaving nothing for the hair to feed upon (a plant or even a tree would die under similar conditions).

The natural thing to do in either case, is to feed and replenish the soil or scalp as the case may be, and your crop will grow and multiply as nature intended it should.

Knowlton's Danderine has a most wonderful effect upon the hair glands and tissues of the scalp. It is the only remedy for the hair ever discovered that is similar to the natural hair foods or liquids of the scalp.

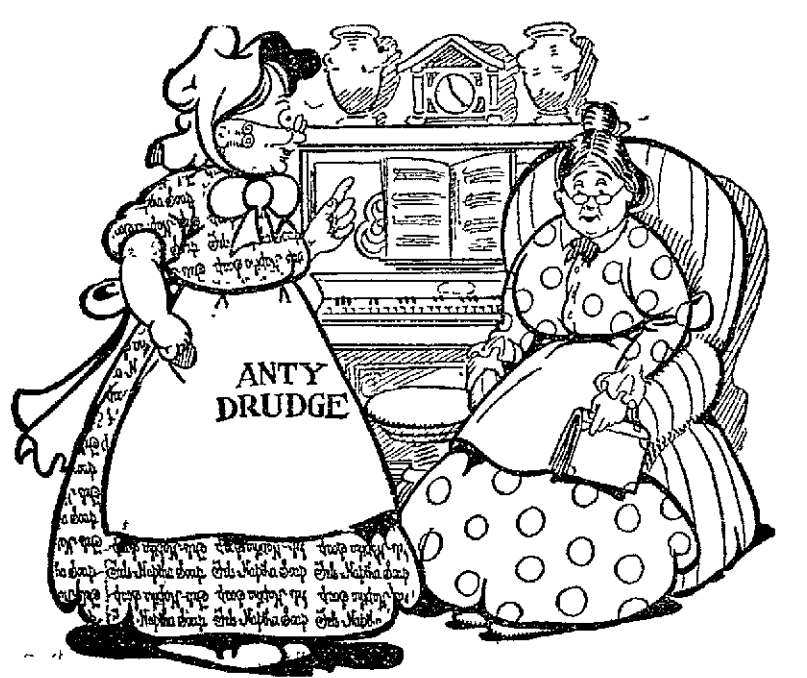

It penetrates the pores quickly and the hair soon shows the effects of its wonderfully exhilarating and life-producing qualities.

One 25-cent bottle is enough to convince you of its great worth also, for growing and hair beautifying remedy—try it and see for yourself.

NOW at all druggists in three sizes, 25c, 50c and $1.00 per bottle.

FREE To show how quickly Danderine acts, we will send a large sample free by return mail to anyone who sends this free coupon to the Anty Drudge on the Farm.

Mrs. Farmer—"I s'pose all you fine city folks are 'way ahead of us who live in the country."

Anty Drudge—"Goodness, no, Mrs. Farmer. I see you use Fels-Naptha; your hands are white and you have plenty of time for reading and music. You can't get ahead of the woman who uses Fels-Naptha, whether she lives in the country or city."

Do women cling to delusions longer than men? That's an open question. In China, men do the washing and they have been doing it in the same old way for 4,000 years.

In America more than a million women have broken away from the old-fashioned traditions, and have adopted the Fels-Naptha way of washing. That means cold or lukewarm water—never hot—no boiling, no hard rubbing, a saving of time, temper, trouble, fuel, clothes and health.

CLOSED SEASON WITH VICTORY

NEWARK HIGH EASILY DEFEATED
COSHOCTON THANKS-GIVING DAY.

Big Crowd Saw Locals Have Easy Victory Over Opponents and Close Successful Season.

With almost ideal weather conditions and before the largest crowd ever at a football game in Newark, Coshocton was handed a singing defeat at the hands of the local High school football team, by the score of 25 to 0.

At no time did Coshocton appear dangerous and after the first ten minutes of play with the score 12 to 0 in Newark's favor, the locals let down, but had no trouble in scoring almost at will. The visiting squad, almost unsupported by reserves, played a very poor game and were buffeted around over the field, offering almost no opposition to the march of the Warner team.

Newark won the toss and kicked off to the cheers of 500 people who had chosen the place of vantage in the grandstand and bleachers. After five minutes of play, a fake quarter-back run sent Ramsey across the goal line with the ball. Black kicked goal. Newark, 6.

Line backs and another quarter-back run turned the trick again and Ramsey scored the second touchdown. Black again kicked goal. Newark, 12.

Coshocton made a brave rally, but the team was powerless and Collins, when he was given the ball almost in the center of the field, and aided by his interference, broke through the line and on the second down carried the ball across an unresisting line for the third touchdown. Black again hoisted safely between the goal posts. Newark 18.

With the score 18 to 0 the whistle blew and the teams both rested up for ten minutes while a hundred students of the High school, and others who were not, marched gaily around the field singing and shooting their yells through big megaphones.

The battle, when resumed, was at one sided as the first half had been, and five minutes of play saw Black plunge across the line with the ball tightly clutched in his arms. On this attempt he failed to kick goal. Newark, 22.

Though they got the ball several times on fumbles, Coshocton failed to hold the ball and their line melted like snow on a sunny day when the local squad would make its plunges. The visiting squad was also very faulty. Black, getting the ball, had no trouble in making a 60 yard dash for another touchdown, and this time his toe was sure, and the score was 29 to 0 in Newark's favor.

A touchdown by Ramsey and a goal by Black in the last half minute of play brought the score up to 35.

The big crowd that paid admissions yesterday helped out the athletic fund of the high school wonderfully, and the deficit in the treasury was entirely cleared away and a little money was left over.

The line up:
Newark: Warner 12, Townsend 12, Trapp 12, Compton, Williams, McMullin 12, Graham Perry 12, Judd Davis 12, Barnes Sachs 12, Wilcoxen Collins 12, Compton, Williams Ramsey 12, Johnson Gleichen 12, Gault Black 12, Shannon Ashley 12, Segrist Referee, Nchis, Empire, Porter Head line man, Bell, Linsden, McMullin, Fleming, Timekeepers, Gorbison, Ellis, Time of halves, 25-20, Touchdowns, Ramsey 3, Black 2, Collins 1, Goals, Black 5.

EARL LUCAS.

IT IS CREATING A WON- DERFUL STIR HERE

People all over the town are talking about the wonderful good Root Juice is doing in this community, as it has made many remarkable cures during the past few months. A well known lady who for social reasons does not want her name published, said: "I had been in poor health for several years. The doctors gave me medicine for catarrh of the stomach, gastric ulcers, indigestion, dyspepsia and stomach troubles generally, but I derived no benefit. My appetite was variable—sometimes hungry as a wolf, then sickening at the mere thought of food. I was subject to dizzy spells and sick headache. I was thin, weak, despondent and nervous, and had to take some kind of medicine all the time on account of my badly constipated condition. A lady friend told me that she had suffered very much as I did, but that Root Juice had completely cured her, so I concluded to try it, and before I had used the first bottle I was rapidly improving in every way. I continued taking the truly great medicine about six weeks, and if there is anything the matter with me now I don't know it. I now enjoy my food and digest it. I sleep well. I am no longer constipated, weak or nervous, and have plenty of flesh and strength." Such good reports of the great medicine are being heard all over town. It is sold for one dollar a bottle or three bottles for two dollars and a half. Those who are interested can learn of many of the wonderful things it is doing by going to the City Drug Store.

EQUALITY TO ALL

Say, Timothy, don't drink water but take a little wine for the stomach's sake, but don't get drunk, be temperate.

O, say, my dear brother, let love rule that we may reason together. While one side is trying to make a living and save something for a wet day, others are aspiring to high places and glory, and one place makes all even. This greater Newark must be united or we must fall, as every prohibition man knows very well. That the Liberal has always donated to all church contributions and has been a large factor in helping the Y. M. C. A. This no one dares say is not true, but the money was wanted and the question was not asked, what child was hungry or whose bare foot lay in the snow. Is not pride and self interest truly manifest in this present strife for glory? To say we liked them and now own the county and the legislature. A wet man for his lawful view is scorned at the social places that his money helped to build. I tell you Publicans and sinners shall fare better than these in that day. Let us pray at our own ears and say thy will be done.
Respectfully,
JONATHAN.

THE QUESTION OF TAXES IN LICKING COUNTY

County-Wide Prohibition Would Check Or Paralyze Prosperity.

Figures Show Necessity of Present Revenue and the Danger of New Taxes If the County Votes "Dry"

To the Voters of Licking County:

The Business Men's and Taxpayers' League of Licking county feels called upon as a matter of duty, to submit to the voters of this county the facts in reference to the critical stage which has been reached in regard to the financial affairs of the state of Ohio, and in the various counties of the state, as related to tradition since the recent state election.

At that election the constitutional amendment authorizing the legislature to classify property for taxation failed of endorsement by the people on account of wide spreading indifference, although the vast majority of votes cast on the amendment were votes in favor of it. The failure to endorse the amendment means that real estate in all the counties of Ohio must continue to bear by far the greater part of the burdens of taxation as formerly, but must also have imposed upon it immense additional burdens by reason of the recent losses in revenue due to the loss of the liquor tax in many communities.

The constitutional amendment referred to, if it had been enacted, would have thrown a just share of the burden of taxation upon intangible property, such as stocks and bonds, which, it is notorious, have never been reached in this state for purposes of taxation. Real estate, therefore, must not only carry its old burdens but must bear a new one, while other forms of property continue to escape taxation.

The farmers in the country, and the home owners in the cities, towns and villages, cannot put their property in a safety deposit vault and thereby enable it to escape taxation; nor can they ship it over into some other state and escape taxation by that means. The farmers and the home owners must "pay up" when the tax assessors come around, no matter what the holders of intangible wealth are able to do in the way of escaping taxation.

Financially the people of this state and the various counties thereof have now reached a crisis. Reliable figures show that the loss of revenue to the state and the several counties and cities in which county option elections have been held, is staggering. Since the Rose law, wherever it has been put into effect, must be operative for three years, all annual loss of revenue must be computed for a three year period. Up to the present time the loss to the state treasury has been more than $350,000; the loss to the counties and cities has been practically $1,000,000, and the total loss in round numbers $1,500,000 per year. To this we must add the sum refunded to saloon keepers, which will approximate more than $200,000. It will thus be seen that the grand total of loss in revenue already occasioned by the Rose law within the three years of its operation will reach $4,500,000.

The prohibition campaign managers in Licking county now propose that this county shall contribute to this loss more than $55,000 per year, additional, which sum must be realized by some new form of taxation, unless public improvements are to be suspended and the police and fire departments and the public service generally in the larger communities of the county are to be demoralized if not bankrupted.

The Business Men's and Taxpayers' League of Licking county submits to the voters of the county as the solemn judgment of thinking men, that our people cannot afford to add anything to the vast sums already lost throughout the state by reason of the Rose Law, and cannot afford to jeopardize the interests of our farmers, home owners, industrial workers, manufacturers and merchants by fastening this law upon Licking county.

If anything were to be gained for real temperance by voting Licking county "dry" our people might be willing to make the sacrifice, notwithstanding the material loss that would ensue. But when the operators of the "speak-easy", the "blind tiger" and the gambling den are on our borders, ready to invade and overwhelm them if the open saloon is voted out of our larger communities; and when the "boot-leggers" and illicit liquor dealers of all kinds are waiting the opportunity to inaugurate a reign of lawless booze in those communities, in case the county votes "dry," we submit that it is time for reasonable, patriotic citizens to do their utmost to defeat this travesty on temperance and this raid on the treasury of our county.

WEDDINGS

EVANS-GIFFEN.

It has just been learned here that Prof. Horace D. Evans, principal of the Hanover schools, and Miss Jennie Giffen, the daughter of James Giffen, a prominent farmer, president of the Hanover school board and an elder in the Hanover Presbyterian church, were married in this city Wednesday evening at the home of the Rev. G. W. Applegate, on West Main street.

The ceremony was performed at 7:30 in the presence of Lawrence E. Giffen, brother of the bride, and Mrs. Mary E. Williams, both of Hanover. The young couple, who were at their home in Hanover Thanksgiving night, were given an old fashioned celebration by their friends in the village.

FOOD FOR THOUGHT FOR THOSE WHO WOULD VOTE "DRY"

Unparalleled Loss From Operations of the Rose Law Up to Date.

Business Men and Taxpayers Submit That Licking County Cannot Afford to Add to the Burden
---Strong Appeal for Common Sense.

To the Voters of Licking County:

On Monday, December 7th, you are to decide by your vote the question of prohibition for Licking county. The several communities in the county will not be permitted to vote separately on their own affairs, but the Rose law will give each community the power to interfere with the affairs of every other community. The Business Men's and Taxpayers' League of Licking county is interested in the home rule phase of this election, but it is also deeply interested in the question of taxation as involved in the election, and we have no doubt that farmers, manufacturers, merchants and property owners generally are equally interested in it.

What of the tax rate if by any misfortune Licking county should go dry? This is a question in which every good citizen is interested and one that is habitually dodged or misrepresented by the advocates of county option.

The records in the county auditor's office speak for themselves. They are public property and can be seen by any person desiring to examine them, and they prove conclusively that if the saloon tax is eliminated a large increase in local taxes will be absolutely necessary in order to carry on the public business as it is now transacted and in order to secure a continued efficiency of the police and fire departments and other forms of public service in the large communities of the county, as well as to provide for road and other improvements in the county.

For the year ending January 1st, 1908, there was collected in taxes from the saloon business in Licking county the sum of $85,258.81, of which $60,306.86 went directly to the people and institutions of Licking county, the remainder, or $24,951.95, going to the state treasury. The latter sum would have to be raised from some other source if there were no saloon tax—a fact equally true of all the taxes for county purposes levied upon the same business. During the year referred to the fund realized from the saloon tax was distributed in Licking county as follows:

County poor fund	$18,255.84
Newark (City)	$7,966.74
Johnstown (Village)	1,895.68
Auditor and treasurer's fees	2,197.60

From the foregoing figures it will be seen that the county poor fund derived more than $18,000 from the saloon tax, or nearly enough money for the support of all the poor and charitable institutions in the county, which will have to be sustained by the levy of new and burdensome taxes, if Licking county should vote "dry." It must be equally apparent to every reasonable and unprejudiced mind that the public service in general, including road and other improvements in the county and public service in the cities and villages, must be crippled in the same manner, and provided for by new levies of taxation, if the prohibitionists succeed in their efforts to destroy the revenue and to vote in the "speak-easy" and the "blind tiger," in Licking county, while voting out the open saloon.

The state of Ohio and the different counties and communities in the state have already lost the vast sum of more than a million dollars per year by reason of various counties voting "dry," while the records of the arrests for drunkenness and the general criminal records show that nothing has been gained for the cause of temperance. The people of Licking county are now asked to add more than

This kind of bowel-training is necessary to the enjoyment of good health. Unless your bowels throw off the waste matter and poisons of the body at least once every day, you simply can't be at your best physically. Think of the days you lose because $85,000 per year to these losses. The demand that they should do so comes from irresponsible agitators and itinerant preachers of false doctrine, most of whom are not residents of the county and only sojourn here long enough to draw their salaries from the prohibition state organization. They are here today and gone tomorrow, and it makes no difference to them whether the treasury of Licking county is bankrupt or not.

For these convincing reasons this Association appeals to all voters to stand for prosperity and decency at the coming election, and to vote against unreasonable prohibition, the "speak-easy" and the "boot-legger," and in favor of home rule and the tax payer.

THE GREAT WESTERN

GUINEA FLY

Given by Col. J. F. Ryan of the Union Market Company, Thanksgiving Proves Success.

There was great sport on the northeast corner of the public square on Thursday morning about 9 o'clock. It was occasioned by the annual guinea fly inaugurated by J. F. Ryan of the Union Market company, and as usual there was an immense crowd on hand to witness the sport. When the first guinea was turned loose it is estimated that there was a crowd of over 2000 persons on hand. Two hundred boys were also on hand to chase the fowls. When the word was given and the first guinea flew over the heads of the assemblage, the two hundred boys made a wild dash after the fowl, and such running, yelling and waving of arms has not been seen since last year's guinea race. The turning loose of the first guinea was quickly followed by others until the last one had been freed. Some of the birds took to the trees, while others wildly scampered through the court house park. It was not long, however, before the last bird had been captured. The guineas were turned loose by Homer Johnson, George Ryan and Ray McManus, and the judges were Wash J. Henderson, Will Rice and Louis Daer.

The lucky boys who succeeded in running down and catching guineas were T. Cleise, who managed to corral two of the birds, Charles Abbey, Herbert Toothman, Dan Tatterall, G. W. Swartz, "Bloody Murder" and L. F. Linderman each caught one.

CONFERENCE

Of Y. M. C. A. Boys Which is Being Held in Dayton—The Newark Contingent.

The new and exact knowledge that has come recently about the adolescent period of boyhood has led to a somewhat radical change in Y. M. C. A. methods in their boys' departments. Less emphasis is put on the "don't do this" and more emphasis is put on "do" something. "do it well" and "do something for the other fellow."

A system of boys' conferences are held each year for the training of leaders in boys' work and the meeting at Dayton that begins today is one of the kind held in many other leading states of the country. The boys in attendance are mostly of those who are 16 years or over and the boys themselves furnish much of the program and enter into the discussions of the questions of boys' work, boys' clubs, etc.

Newark has a choice delegation in attendance at this meeting. Melville Rank, Gifford Schraeder, Jay Border, Harold Kreig, Howard Williams, Harry Horehler, James Fraser, Russell Long and Ray Perry. Mr. Gid Lipincott, the boys' secretary, went along. The party will return Monday. Dayton furnishes entertainment to all the delegates.
